

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In order to provide a method and apparatus which prevent order loss from occurring due to an analyzer user's human error, a method of managing consumer goods used in an analyzer consists of a step of monitoring consumption status of consumer goods consumed by an analyzer and transmitting the monitoring results, a step of receiving the consumption status information, a step of analyzing the consumption status of consumer goods used in an analyzer according to consumer goods supplier and according to consumer goods that said consumer goods suppliers deal in, a step of transmitting the analyzed consumer goods consumption status and supply management information to a management unit for the analyzer, consumer goods suppliers' supply management units or a supply management unit for a consumer goods vendor, a step of confirming supply status based on the consumer goods supply management information, and a step of requesting payment from an analyzer administrator, consumer goods suppliers or a consumer goods vendor in consideration of use of the information based on said step that monitors consumer goods consumption status and said step that analyzes the consumer goods consumption status.